19 On April 5, 2019, the parties appeared before the Court to review Defendant's detention status.
20 Previously, Defendant had waived a detention hearing and findings. See Dkts. 3, 4. During the April 5, 21 2019 hearing, Defendant proposed having a family member serve as a surety and having his 22 grandmother, with whom he had been living, serve as a custodian. In its bail study, Pretrial Services 23 recommended that the defendant be detained, and the new proposal from the defense did not change that 24 recommendation. For the reasons set forth during the April 5, 2019 hearing, the Court finds by clear and 25 convincing evidence that no condition or combination of conditions would be adequate to address the 26 danger to the community posed by Defendant's release, and it orders him remanded to the custody of the 27 United States Marshal.

1 Although the Court has considered the other factors under Section 3142, the most compelling
2 factor in this case concerns the history and characteristics of the person. 18 U.S.C. § 3142(g)(3). As 3 shown in the Pretrial Services report, Defendant Galasi has a number of felony convictions, including 4 for assault, robbery, burglary, and being a felon in possession of a firearm. 18 U.S.C. § 3142(g)(3)(B).
5 The Court also notes that many of these offenses were committed while Defendant was under 6 supervision by other courts. 18 U.S.C. § 3142(g)(3)(B). In addition, there have been multiple 7 unsuccessful terminations of previous court supervision.

8 In addition, several of Defendant's prior convictions involved violence or the risk of violence, 9 such as the convictions for assault and robbery. Therefore, Defendant's release poses a risk of physical 10 danger to members of the community. 18 U.S.C. 3142(g)(4). The nature of the current offense, a 11 violation of 18 U.S.C. § 922(g)(1)—being a felon in possession of a firearm—strengthens the Court's 12 conclusion regarding potential danger, because there is a risk that such firearms may be used. 18 U.S.C.
13 § 3142(g)(1).

14 Based on this record, the Court finds by clear and convincing evidence that no condition or 15 combination of conditions will reasonably assure the safety of the community. Defendant Anthony 16 Galasi is therefore remanded to the custody of the United States Marshal.
